

Pastor's e-Note

Morristown United Methodist Church (4/6/2017)

What is your most natural way to connect with God?

You may answer by saying that you connect with God through nature like waterfalls, in the mountains, or the ocean. Your spirituality is intimately connected to your relationship with God's creation.

You may find yourself connecting with God through music and art. Music speaks to you and touches you deeply. Various art forms like paintings, sculptures or dancing connect you with God.

Or you may find studying the Bible, deep meditations, or retreats cause to go deeper in your connecting with God.

Or you may feel your spirits energized by your "act of love" for others in mission work in your community or some other places away from home.

And I am sure you can come up with other answers to help you connect with God most naturally and intimately.

During this Lenten season, I have attempted to connect with God in various ways. In fact, writing this weekly pastoral e-note to you has been a powerful and transforming way to connect with God and with you. I have found a way to be quiet, listen to God and my inner voice, and express "God thoughts" in writing. It has been good.

Now, we are getting ready to enter into the Holy Week, beginning with Palm/Passion Sunday in a few days. . .and then onto Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and Easter.

I am looking forward to journeying with you through this Holy Week. May this be the time of our life to connect with God more deeply and powerfully to know and experience the fullness of God's grace.

Have a blessed week and weekend, and see you in Church.

In God's peace and grace,

Brandon
