Morristown United Methodist Church (5/30/2018)

Dear Friends,

Rev. Alex Vergara is one of my dear friends. He is a real gifted photographer and photo journalist. The picture you see in this article was taken by him. As you can imagine, one of his constant traveling companions is his camera. He takes his camera with him everywhere. I enjoy watching the pictures he has taken on his Facebook. Through the lenses of his camera, he sees people and things with a focused vision and artistic imagination. Then, he captures the beauty and mystery of life and generously shares them with us.

For us Christians, we have been given a special kind of lenses, and we call them love or grace. When we learn to look at people, life and the world through the lenses of God's love or grace, we too will begin to capture the beauty and mystery of people and life, even when we go through tough times and stressful moments.

So during this lively season with lots of sunshine, how about learning to put on the lenses of God's love and grace, and taking some beautiful photo shots of good life God has given us?

Thank you to everyone for helping to make last Sunday's service special and memorable. Thank you to you all for your gracious understanding and patience in worshipping God in two languages – English and Spanish. Please keep in your prayers our youth who were confirmed of their faith last Sunday. They are precious children of God.

This coming Sunday I will preach on "There Is No Them." I trust that this message will encourage you in your Christian walk in the world.

May the beauty and wonder of the Lord bless you today. See you in church.

Pastor Brandon
